As a Catholic, Jesuit university, community engagement is central to the mission of Rockhurst University. A strategic approach to community engagement and civic responsibility is needed to fulfill the vision to make God’s good world better through learning, leadership, service and the pursuit of justice.

Civic Action Plan

Civic Action Planning Committee
In its mission and values statement, Rockhurst University proudly states that it is a learning community, centered on excellence in undergraduate liberal education and graduate education. It is Catholic and Jesuit, involved in the life and growth of the city and the region, and committed to the service of the contemporary world. Central to the mission of Rockhurst University is our involvement in the city, region and world around us. In keeping with our mission of engagement and service, the Reverend Thomas B. Curran, S.J., Rockhurst University President, has reiterated one key message to all of these groups on many occasions: we are called to “make God’s good world better.” This expectation and goal for students, faculty, staff, and alumni has been our call to civic action.

Mission/Vision of Civic Action Plan

As a Catholic, Jesuit university, Rockhurst University is involved in the life and growth of the city and the region and committed to the service of the contemporary world. The university infrastructure provides support for and is a resource to students, faculty, and community members. The university maintains a decentralized approach to community engagement to reinforce the notion that community involvement is not relegated to one office but is the mission of the entire university. There are specific offices whose primary functions include community engagement efforts: the Center for Service Learning and the Office of Community Relations and Outreach. These offices work collaboratively to support the community engagement efforts of the university. An examination of the current activities that address the five Action Statements prove that community engagement is a hallmark of the Rockhurst experience for students, faculty, and community members. Additionally, the examination revealed deficiencies in our community engagement efforts. For example, multiple groups indicated a lack of knowledge of community engagement efforts or a systematic way of communicating community engagement efforts to the campus and greater Kansas City community. The creation of the Civic Action Plan gives the university an opportunity to reflect and discern how to proceed in our efforts of community engagement with a spirit of Magis. Through this process, the committee determined the following mission and vision for the Civic Action Plan.
Mission: Increase impact and reciprocity of community engagement and increase visibility and participation on campus, in our neighborhood, and in the greater Kansas City community.

Vision: Build capacity among faculty and staff to increase and foster engagement with campus community (faculty, student, and staff), neighborhood, and greater KC community.

Approach To Creating a Campus Plan

The Jesuit value of Magis guided the team in creating the Civic Action Plan. Magis is not the accumulation of more but the commitment to excellence. In the creation of the Civic Action Plan, we strive to find more purposeful and effective ways to carry out our work. To aid in this, a committee of individuals representing various areas within the university were brought together to lead the efforts. To gather information from all areas of the university, several focus groups were held to provide input to current community engagement efforts and provide ideas and guidance for future efforts. The committee led these focus groups with students, faculty, staff, community partners, and the RU neighborhood committee (residents, administrators, and neighboring institutions). Then the committee was charged with the analysis and prioritization of the gathered information.

Members of the committee:

- Elizabeth Barnett, PhD, Assistant Professor of English
- Alicia Douglas, Director, Community Relations & Outreach
- Sydney Drysdale, Student
- Ben Franco, Student Senator
- Annalisa Gramlich, Director of Assessment, Office of Institutional Effectiveness
- Bill Kriege, Assistant Director, Campus Ministry
- Ellen Spake, Ph.D., Assistant to the President, Mission & Ministry
- Julia Vargas, Ed.D., Director, Center for Service Learning

The following timeline was used in creating the plan.

The committee agreed to this timeline to take advantage of the university’s next strategic planning process which began in the spring of 2017. Our goal is to have the Civic Action Plan outcomes and action steps incorporated into the larger university strategic plan for added strength and support.

Outcomes

Data were collected by conducting focus groups and speaking with key leaders involved in community based work. The committee analyzed and prioritized the emerging themes from our community. This information was utilized to create vision and mission statements as well as outcomes to support those goals. The three outcomes are wide reaching and address the organization of community activities on campus (Outcome 1) as well as increasing and fostering staff and faculty community engagement (Outcome 2) and campus (faculty, student, staff) and community relationships (Outcome 3). All three outcomes and their related actions are outlined below.

Outcome 1: Prepare for eventual centralization of community events, work, and opportunities.

Action: Form a work group to document, manage all opportunities and increase visibility

Action: Document and centralize all current avenues, resources, opportunities for faculty, student, and staff to engage with their campus, neighborhood, and greater Kansas City community.

Action: Communicate these opportunities effectively to the campus community.

Outcome 2: Increase and foster staff and faculty community engagement—build capacity among staff and faculty around community engagement

Action: Promote staff’s use of mission leave

Action: Document and advertise possible community partners for faculty and staff to contact

Action: Form exploratory group to engage with Rank and Tenure committee for possible development of community engagement rubric.

Outcome 3: Increase and foster campus (faculty, student, staff) and community relationships.
